Alert
Lockdown
Inform

Evacuate

ALERT is when you first become aware of a threat. The sooner you understand that you're in danger, the sooner you can save yourself. A speedy response is critical. Seconds count.

If EVACUATION is not a safe option, barricade (LOCKDOWN) entry points into your room. Prepare to Evacuate or Counter if needed.

Communicate information (INFORM) in as real time as possible, if it is safe to do so. Use clear and direct language using any communication means possible.

Create Noise, Movement, Distance and Distraction with the intent of reducing the shooter's ability to shoot accurately. COUNTER is NOT fighting.

When safe to do so, remove yourself (ESCAPE) from the danger zone. Rally points should be predetermined.

SEL and Wellness Subcommittee:

STRESS

STOP

Slowing down helps stimulate the parasympathetic nervous system, which produces a calm & relaxed state.

TAKE A DEEP BREATH

Deep breathing reduces stress by slowing the heart rate & lowering blood pressure.

REACH FOR THE SKY

Now reach down & grab your toes. The same stretching exercises that help relax your muscles will help relax your mind as well.

EXERCISE

Walk, run, skip, jump, or do yoga... Exercise, can help lower stress by causing the brain to release feel-good chemicals and giving your body a chance to practice dealing with stress.

SAY SOMETHING!

Talk to a trusted adult, like a parent or teacher, older sibling, or even one of your peers. Everyone needs to vent once in a while. Try talking face to face, or at least over the phone.

SEEK HELP!

If you're still feeling stressed, seek professional help. Talk to an adjustment counselor, or make an appointment with a mental-health provider. You can find a number of local resources by visiting: www.cohassetk12.org/SELresources
